AI ON THE RISE · BUSINESSES IN CHATGPT

ChatGPT now has a storefront. Does your content get cited?

A profile helps. It doesn't make AI read or cite you.

Victor Slompo · vssolutions.io

Swipe →

WHAT HAPPENED

OpenAI launched Businesses in ChatGPT, in beta

Through Business Hub, companies can claim their business, update their information and see insights like mentions and website clicks. Eligible US ecommerce and online service businesses can also launch a Business Agent.

THE NUMBER

1.2B

people use ChatGPT each week, according to OpenAI

That is the audience OpenAI says businesses can now connect with.

THE REAL PROBLEM IN COMPANIES

What I see in companies: a profile is not a strategy

01 The profile gets claimed, but the site content is still hard for AI to parse.

02 Nobody knows if AI engines actually read, cite or send traffic to the site.

03 The dashboard gets checked once, and no one owns the result.

I'VE ALREADY SOLVED THIS

For one of Brazil's largest cosmetics companies, I rebuilt an annual report for AI

01 Server-rendered HTML in 3 languages, Schema.org/JSON-LD, llms.txt, 17 AI crawlers allowed by name.

02 In 15 days: 1,427 AI crawler reads from 8 engines, 553 searches from real questions.

03 60 people reached the site by clicking an AI citation, tracked by an in-house log collector.

MY TAKE

Measure instead of assuming.

A business profile is a visibility feature. It becomes a result when you know how AI actually reads you, what triggers real questions and which citations get clicked. Without that separation, you are guessing.

WANT TO SEE HOW I DID IT?

Comment GEO.

I'll send you the step-by-step of this case by DM. I take AI off the drawing board and put it into production, with measured results.

Comment GEO · vssolutions.io